

Supplementary material

Fig. a

Electronically instrumented femoral internal fixator (left) and portable external reader unit with antenna to be placed on the skin (right).

Fig. b

Measurement set-up comprising an antenna placed on the lateral thigh connected to an external reader unit, a sensor to measure externally applied loads placed under the foot (left) and a laptop computer running the evaluation software (right).